LEWIS CARROLL IS CAUGHT IN GEORGIA

TWO WEEKS AFTER ESCAPE
HOUSTON PRISONER IS CAUGHT AT RHYNE

Lewis Carroll, who in company with Gid Blann, two weeks ago overpowered W. H. Newton at the Houston county jail and escaped, was caught yesterday in Rhine, Ga., and is being held for the officers. A reward of $5000, offered by Sheriff T. W. Butler of Houston county, will likely be claimed by the capturing officer, the chief of police at Rhine.

Sheriff Butler left yesterday over the Central road for Rhine, and is expected to return tonight with the prisoner.

Gid Blann, the other white man who escaped at the time with Carroll, and who aided in the assault on the deputy, was caught one week ago, a few miles below Dothan and, brought back to jail here.

Both men were being held on a charge of burglary.

One week ago some one called over the long distance telephone to the Dothan fire department, where Carroll was working at the time of his arrest, and asked if Mrs. Carroll was still in Dothan.

He gave his name as Gid Barnes and stated he was in Rhine, Ga. Fireman George, who, by the request of the caller, answered the phone, stated that he was sure that it was Carroll's voice at the time. Since then nothing had been heard of the prisoner until yesterday, when news reached here that he was captured at Rhine, where he probably was at the time Mrs. Carroll was asked for.

WILLING WORKERS SOCIETY

The Willing Workers Society adjourned Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Let every member try to be on time, so we can begin and close the meeting promptly.

Mrs. Lew Crawford will lead the devotional exercises. Subject, "Fellowship."

Those who have promised to pay a dollar to the Highland Avenue church and have not done so, are requested to bring it, or send it to the Society Monday, so we can cancel the debt as soon as possible.

Mrs. G. J. Malone, Pres.

Mrs. Emma McClure, of Columbia, is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. O. Childs, on North Water street.

ARLIE BARBER BADLY BEATEN

CITY WILDLY EXCITED OVER
AFFAIR—ALL LIQUOR
JOINTS CLOSED

Dothan, Ala., Oct. 27.—Archie Barber, the druggist and prohibitionist, who today made a most sensational statement in the police court charging that the town was wide open and that the police were not doing their duty and that some officers were being paid to overlook violations of the prohibition law, was set on just before dark this afternoon in his store and almost killed by five or six men who are said to be whiskey men.

Two assaults were made on Mr. Barber, about half an hour apart. C. C. Smith and W. B. Fulton were placed under arrest for the assault of Barber.

Much excitement prevails because of the assault, and decided action will be taken immediately. As a consequence of the turn of the affair every place where liquor is sold, is closed tonight.

Barber was struck over the head with a pistol, and in addition to great personal injuries inflicted, several show cases in the store were smashed, his clock beat up and other damage done. The store was in a filthy condition. Several officers arrived on the scene.

A decidedly sensational statement was made this morning in the police court in the presence of Mayor Culpepper Exam, Chief of Police George H. Bodeker, Judge N. B. Feagin and others by Barber, who declared that the town was wide open and that the prohibition law was being flagrantly violated and that police officers and deputy sheriffs were convicted by not doing their duty. Mr. Barber ended at the mayor's office and then at the chief of police's office, and informed those officials that he would like to have them in the court room as he was going to make an arrest. He presented to the court set bottles of beer and two bottles of whiskey, which he said he purchased in various places in the city, and pointed out that inasmuch as he had been able to get the contraband stuff, the officers surely ought to be able to get it. He arraigned the police officers and said that people on all sides were losing all confidence in the courts and judges.

Miss Evelyn Farmer is attending the fair this week at Montgomery.

W. E. Whatley left this morning for a few days' hunt at Aikens.

REVENUE CUTTERS HAVE BEEN SENT TO WEST
INDIAN WATERS

New Orleans, La., Oct. 27.—An effort to ascertain the fate of the steamers Crown Prince and Arkadia, caught in the recent gulf hurricane and from which no tidings have been received for more than two weeks, revenue cutters from South ports have been dispatched to West Indian waters. Advances to this effect were received today by the Bureau of the steamship lines owning the missing vessels. They were also notified of the sailing from Panama of the Crown Prince of the Crown Line, with a crew of forty, and a cargo of coffee valued at $1,600,000, was due at New Orleans from Santos, Brazil, more than eleven days ago. She was last seen off Grand Cayman October 13.

The Arkadia, of the New York-Porto Rican Line, bound from New Orleans to San Juan, Porto Rico, has not been reported since she sailed October 11. In addition to a crew of thirty-four, the Arkadia had aboard several passengers. She carried a general cargo.

Just a Common Pistol

But The Boy Is Still Dead.

Up in Oneonta the other night, a man left his happy wife and children to go down to a political rally. He probably told his wife that if anything happened, that she could use the pistol. She, like so many women, was not familiar with the combination of the thing, and got it down to familiarize herself with the strange workings. It was a good pistol, and fired off when she least expected it, and the ball entered the abdomen of her little son, killing him. Such accidents never cease. They will not cease when there is a fine of a million dollars where one is found about the house or person. It is that old desire that was handed from father to son, to be ever ready to fight for your life. When our forefathers plowed with a gun in the jam of the fence, and another midway the rows, it was a common thing to have to lay down the plow and kill a few Indians. But that day is so long passed, till we never think of it, till we read old books. There was instilled in the minds of the American youth a couple of hundred years ago a lesson of the importance of going ever ready for trouble. It will take another generation or two to finally educate it out of our people.

Just so long as guns and pistols are kept conveniently about the place, loaded and primed, just so long will the innocent die at the hands of persons who didn't know it was loaded.

There are thousands of men and women who live and die and never know the need of a pistol, to one who uses one in defending his home or his rights.

There has never been an election where every man got the man they wanted. There will never be an election where this occurs. It is good politics however, to let the majority rule. Twenty years ago, Thomas Jefferson said: "Absolute acquiescence in the decisions of the majority—the vital principal of republics from which there is no repeal but to force the vital principal an immediate parent of despotism." That is just as true today as it was when our nation was younger. Once you go on record as ignoring the choice of the people it is a hard matter to get yourself right before them again.

The passenger department of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad has issued and sent out an attractive folder telling of the various crops that can be grown throughout the South, and especially along the lines of the road. It is handsomely illustrated, and will do much to attract the setters to this section of the south, instead of west, where the flow has been for years. Year by year the railroads are realizing that it is to their interest to advertise the advantages offered along their lines, and they are spending money putting such advantages before the public.

Every man feels more like work some days than he does at others and his off days are due more largely to overeating than probably any other one thing. We have been taught from infancy that one should have plenty to eat, and that it was a disgrace for one not to have plenty. This same foolish idea has made dyspeptics of many people. There is a way to get as much food as is good for one's body without overeating. How to eat, when to eat, and especially when to stop eating, will be taught in the public schools in a few more years.

Too much politics for the time of the year. People are too busy to take a stand in another hot campaign, and they not going to do it. The people are satisfied that the nominee of Houston county received the majority of the Democratic votes of this county, and Monday week they will rebuke the movement to override the wishes of the people. They are coming out and will take the ticket as nominated, from top to bottom.

The government census clerks are making good use of the job they have. They know that it will be ten years before they get another such a job, and they are trying to make enough money out of the present one to lay a report of four or five towns in ten days, and now they are going two or three weeks without letting out any information. The ball season is over, and foot ball is doing nothing in Washington, so we cannot see what is delaying the reports so.

There are more people coming to Dothan, and to Houston county prospecting this fall than have been here for many years. Dothan is one of the best advertised towns in the country, and the wiregrass section is known from north to south, as being the coming section. People are selling out their old worn out red hills in the older countries, and coming to Houston county to locate.

Every time Governor Comer has something to say about the easy manner in which blind tigers are run in Montgomery Sheriff Hood gets out and pulls a joint. Don't know what is causing him to do it, for there are many people in Montgomery that don't care whether bootlegging is done there or not.

Governor Comer is receiving much praise all over the state for the hearty manner in which he is entering into the support of O'Neal for governor but we don't see why it should cause comment. O'Neal is the Democratic nominee of the party, and Comer is a Democrat. He wants to show that there is no soreness.

We acknowledge receipts from Senator Johnstone of five small packages of garden sassa seed, which are too late for fall planting and too early for spring planting. We presume that the seeds are fresh, and will keep till spring.

A Market for Food

Dothan is the best place to bring stuff to sell, if it's something to eat, of any place we know of. No man brings food stuff here and carries it back home for the lack of a market. They buy anything here, such as blue-stem collards, headed cabbage, or just spring greens; any kind of meats; any kind of fruits, from a pie melon to a cantaloupe; from a pomegranate to the old fashion fig. The folks here just buy what you have to offer in the way of eatings.

Chicago bacon is high, and Chicago people are facing a coal famine. Just why it is that two or three million people will huddle around such a town and have a hard time, when they might come South and live easy, is more than we can tell.

At South Bend, Ind., the other day, a famous beauty, a bearded lady was married to a Michigan farmer. She sported an eighteen inch beard, while her husband only had a moustache. Suppose now she will get a shave and try to live a different life.

This has been an unusually good year for gathering crops, considering what there has been to gather in this section.

The rains came in a good time, notwithstanding the weather man didn't promise any such weather yesterday.

COMPELLED

"Have you always been in the show business?" I asked the six-foot contortionist.

"Oh, no," he hastened to say. "I began work as a commercial traveler, and was on the road selling goods for fifteen years."

"Then what in the world put it into your head to become a contortionist?" I questioned.

"I was compelled to become one by the little measley hotel beds I had to sleep in," he continued, his voice vibrant with resentment over past impositions.

A SUBSTANTIAL INSTITUTION

Always prospers. The opening of the Campbell Institute of Shorthand and Accounting in Dothan, Ala., on Oct. 3rd 1910 is the beginning of what promises to be one of the most substantial business colleges in Alabama.

The young people do not have to go to the large cities and spend a small fortune getting a first class commercial training.

A good school of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting and Commercial English in a good little city, under the direct supervision of an experienced business college man, invites the youth of the South to accept this superior training at a very reasonable figure.

Growing Expense of Government

In his book "Highways of Progress," James F. Hill calls attention to the enormous increase of government expenditures in the last thirty years. This increase has been due to the fact that the government has been created within the last thirty years, and it has been the cause of the enormous increase in the number of commissions, boards, officers, posts—all with salaries attached all asking for more and helping up incidental expenses.

The expenditures for government purposes—national, state and local—have increased enormously within recent years. Much of the expenditure, no doubt, represents waste. The thing to do, however, is to eliminate the waste. Merely to decry the increased size of the public budgets is absurd and mischievous. The governments have more to do now than they had thirty years ago. Therefore they must spend more money.

The expense of government probably have not increased so rapidly as have those of the Great Northern or of any other great railroad. Yet Mr. Hill would be the last to say that the railroads should curtail expenditures. He would argue that the larger outlay by the railroads at the present time, is entirely justified by the larger business and the better quality of service rendered.

It should be the same with governments. The people continually demand, and properly so, that the authorities take on new lines of activity. A conspicuous development of the last quarter of a century is the creation of agencies to exercise more effective control over the railroads and other public service corporations. This development explains the existence of many of the boards and commissions to which Mr. Hill makes critical reference. It would be false economy to urge the abandonment of this policy of regulation because it costs money.

There is a great necessity for eliminating the waste in government, not because that course would result in actual decrease in expenditures, but in order to release revenues for effective use in lines of activity that are now neglected.

Importance Of Life Insurance

Do you realize the importance of life insurance? If not, you should begin thinking at once, for life is uncertain, and death is being the case, WHY DELAY?

To carry a policy in the Home Company that has just been organized in Dothan, cost you over TWO CENTS A DAY and you would not mind paying that small amount to know that when you died, your family be well provided for.

Often you hear a man say "if I knew I was going to die soon, I would take out a policy," but that is a poor argument, as many have died not leaving his family. One man died because he thought he would live a long time.

This is where the uncertainty of life is, and where the wise man takes time to forelock and provides for the future that are looking to him for protection.

SCIENCE NOTES

New York state's total water power, without including that of the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers, has been estimated at a million and a half horse-power. Eight hundred and eight thousand of this is undeveloped. The New York water supply commission has recently recommended that the state expend $20,000,000 to develop this water power, which it estimates would return an annual profit of $1,400,000.

Down in Texas a farmer has decided to experiment with the use of electric light for stimulating vegetable growth. He has arranged to procure power from a neighboring plant by which he will supply a network of tungsten lamps, placed 150 feet apart all over the fields. These will be illuminated all night, and it is expected that they will increase the growth of the crops.

It is reported that the Pennsylvania railroad is experimenting with the use of the telephone for communication between the locomotive and the caboose of long freight trains. This will do away with the necessity of signaling by means of lamps, hand signals and whistles. In foggy weather and at night such a means of communication would expedite the handling of freight.

THE DALLAS COUNTY GRAND JURY DOES SOME PLAIN TALKING

The grand jury of the circuit court of Dallas county, made a warm report on the liquor situation in Dallas county, at the close of its recent session. They state very plainly their opinion of the police department of Dallas and the sheriff of the county.

The text of the report of the jury in part is follows:

"To the Hon. B. M. Thibodeau, Judge Fourth Judicial Circuit.

"We, the grand jury, empaneled at this, the fall term of the circuit court, having completed our labors, beg leave to make to you our final report.

"We are glad to report that a general prohibition law is being well observed but there has been one of our chief exceptions and that is the prohibition law. The violation of this law has been open and the court find it is impossible to reach any other conclusion than that it has been done with the knowledge and consent of the sheriff, police and the police department.

"The open and notorious neglect of duty on the part of those executive officials connected with the enforcement of the law, in respect to this law has been so flagrant that it leaves them open to the suspicion at least that their conduct has been influenced by something more than a careless disregard of their duty.

"No one will question it being a fact that the prohibition law has been broken by this grand jury has been a lesson, for our information of the people charged with the violation of this law have with one accord and by unanimous consent, upon their part, left town. Now it seems to us if the 18 men composing this grand jury can while behind closed doors, cause these men to close up their places and leave town, that the sheriff with his deputies and the chief of police with his officers, with very slight effort upon their part, could enforce this law just as easy as any other law upon our statute books. If these officers are unable to enforce the law, and a grand jury can enforce it, then more grand juries should be empaneled and not allow it to be said that all of the law-abiding people of the county, who are vastly in the majority, are helpless in the face of a few lawbreakers.—Alabama Citizen

Capt. Bogardus again Hits the Bull's Eye

This world-famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, La. In an interview, he said: "I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used a lot of well known kidney medicines all of which gave me no relief and I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I could get a dull headache. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." For sale by N. H. McCallum.
